MONDAY, September 21, 1772.

Messieurs EDES & GILL,

FROM an ardent zeal for the weal, prosperity and safety of my native country, I have repeatedly been striving to animate my countrymen to cultivate a military spirit—I have heretofore told them, that I cannot rest or be still, untill I see my country in a more safe condition in this respect. Still animated by the same principle, I again entreat them to attend to this important subject. My countrymen LEARN THE USE OF ARMS. The continuance of peace is uncertain, and should our sudden-ly break out, an excellent discipline prevalant in your militia, may cause an enemy to direct his operations another way; or should he invade you, you will be ready to receive him, and to play the man valiantly with him.—Or do you wish for the continuance of peace, no way more likely to enjoy it, than that of keeping up an exact discipline, and having your militia always ready for action. Your enemy convinced that you are in a condition to resent an insult, may cautiously defer offering of it, which perhaps they would be prompted to do, if they saw you in a careless undisciplined condition.—The advantages which arise to a people from a well regulated and disciplined militia, are many and great; and at all times worthy of the attention of all orders of men in the state And it would be happy for this people, if it was more attended to by all in the community at this day, (especially those who are more immediately concerned in the regulation and government of it,) but many seem careless and indifferent about it, as if it were a matter of little or no importance, (this surely was not the conduct of our worthy ancestors, and posterity may rue the present neglect,) altho' in some places attention seems of late to be given to it, in particular, in the town of Boston, where a military spirit at present greatly prevails: This surely cannot fail of giving pleasure and satisfaction to those who are wishing to see a military spirit flourish among us. And I cannot forego this opportunity (as a member of the community) to thank those gentlemen who have been the principal instruments in this reform in the Boston Regiment; and I cannot but mention with the greatest esteem the conduct of the Officers and Gentlemen of the Cadet Company, the Officers and privates of the Company of the Train of Artillery, the Officers and privates of the Grenadier Company, and the Officers and privates of several of the other Companies belonging to that Regiment, who have in a particular manner distinguished themselves; neither can I omit mentioning the soldier like behaviour of several Companies of Youth in the town of Boston and vicinity, who certainly deserve notice and encouragement. It is earnestly wished that those gentlemen who are in commission in various parts of the Province, may catch the fire, and that each Company and Regiment would strive to excell the other. I know that the four days which the militia are to train annually, will not make them Soldiers; but from what we have seen in several companies, something valuable and important may be learnt, and I hope and trust that some better plan for regulating the militia, will ere long be adopted. Untill that shall be the case, it is wished that the gentlemen in commission would strive to improve their time in the best way and manner they can, and by every method, aim to give the soldiery as lively ideas of action as possible; this is the great the important point. —They must first be taught to stand strait, still & steady, and to be strictly attentive; then to handle their arms with life, bringing them to the proper positions, with ease & dexterity; this is chiefly the end & design of the manual exercise. They must also be taught to use their feet, which the great SAXE has told us is of more importance then to use their arms; great attention should the efore be given to this: When once men can march well to the front with strait rank, can turn with regularity, and march by the flank, or to the rear, and wheel and manœuvre, without breaking their order, they have then attained to a considerable degree: Great attention must also be given to the firings, to see that the men load properly; and in particular, let them be taught to level well, as men are accustomed, so they will perform in action. The words of command should also be given strong and short, especially the word fire. If this should be properly attended to, there would be more good fires; a company is often blamed, when the fault is in the officer. When the men can perform each of these tollerably well, I would beg leave with all deference to recommend the spending as much time as possible in the different modes of attack and retreat, such as are suitable in all sorts of situations. For to what purpose is it to discipline soldiers, unless you now and then shew them the use and importance of the different motions and movements? The Roman soldiers were so well acquainted with the orders of battle, that when they have been attacked on a sudden, before their officers had time to give the necessary orders, they have formed themselves, and attacked with regularity; this was once the case in particular, when they were attacked by the people of Hainault. The diff rent modes of attack and retreat should be made as familiar to the men as possible. If men are never to be taught any thing but the manual exercise and a few advancings and retreatings by files, what idea can they possibly have of action? I have been often exceedingly sorry to find that so little is done in this way, and that when it is, it is not more lively and striking; it but seldom happens that action is resembled, and if it is attempted, for the most part, altho' a crowd of spectators may be diverted with the fire, noise and smoak, and perhaps also go away and say it was a wonderful performance: Yet one a little acquainted with military affairs, would not be able to discover a spec e of generalship in the whole, and would be grieved to see them in every movement exposing themselves in the most egregious manner, where they engaged with an enemy. It would be well in all mock fights to use as much precaution as if it were a real action; this will naturally incline the soldiery always to be on their guard, and to watch against a surprize. Every necessary disposition should be previously made in order to defence in case they should be attack'd in front or rear, on right or left, that so the assailants may be immediately opposed without disordering the whole. Every advantageous post should be secured, different stratagems should be made use of, every mismovement of the enemy should be watched and improved, parties should be detached to fall on their rear or flank, or to cut off a retreat and the like. By such performances men may be greatly prepared for action, especially the officers will be led to make improvements in the art, and display their genius, and if they would but give their minds a little to the subject, they may find treatises in their own language, which added to a fruitful genius, will enable them to perform actions entertaining and agreeable to the beholders, and at the same time form them for more important services to their country.

I have no more to offer at present, adieu!

A MILITARY COUNTRYMAN.

P. S. Since the foregoing was prepared for the Press, the Company belonging the Train of Artillery, under the Command of Major Paddock, (of the Boston Regiment) performed the Cannonading, Bombarding and storming a Fort, (erected on an Eminence to the Southwest of the Common) in which Performance the Officer and Soldier were well exhibited, to the Honor of the whole Corps, and far exceeded any Thing of the Nature heretofore performed by the Militia. The Particulars thereof will doubtless be given by some abler Pen. And it is hoped the Example will be imitated by others. vid. under Militia

BOSTON.

Monday last the Boston Regiment of Militia, under the Command of Col. Erving, had their third Training for the present Year. The Grenadier with the other Companies, after going through the Manual Exercise respectively, formed in Battallion, and performed as many Evolutions and Platoon Firings as the Time would allow, to great Acceptation. The Company of Artillery under Major Paddock, having first been exercised as usual, performed another Mock Battle, as follows, A Detachment of the Company under Capt. Hatch and Lieut. Trott drew off with two Cannon and a Mortar, and marched to Fox-Hill, so called, at the Bottom of the Common, and encamp'd with French Colours flying: Upon which Major Paddock, with Lieutenants Craft and Tuckerman, and the Remainder of the Company march'd and took Post on a Hill opposite; from thence began to cannonade and bombard with artificial Bombs, which was answered from those in the Encampment: At this Station it was supposed no Advantage could be had, the Major therefore marched off by the Right between the Powder-House and a Ridge of Hills, and form'd on the Right of the Ridge, which brought him on the Left of Fox-Hill, where he again began the Engagement, after firing a few Shot, he ordered Lt. Craft with one Cannon and a Party with Firelocks to pass a Defile in Front, at the same Time Capt. Hatch sent Lt. Trott to a Redoubt below his Post to oppose him, which Lt. Craft forced and obliged Lt. Trott to give way and run up to the Encampment. As soon as the Assailants mounted the Breastwork, a Parley was beat by Capt. Hatch and a Flag sent out offering to surrender on Conditions of being allowed all the Honors of War, which being refused, a brisk Firing began again from the Encampment. Whereupon the Remainder of the Company were ordered to join Lt. Craft who ascended the Hill briskly and forced the Encampment with charged Bayonets, flaming Hand-Granadoes flying all the Time amidst the contending Parties: On which Capt. Hatch with his Party retired precipitantly down the opposite Side of the Hill, the French Colours were struck and the Encampment represented to be set on Fire. Both Parties joined and marched with their Cannon in Regular Order to their Parade, and after going through several Firings, retired.

The whole was executed in a Manner that did Honour to the Officers and Privates.

His Excellency the Governor, was on the Common to see the Performance of the Regiment and Artillery Company; as were also a great Number of Gentlemen and Ladies, and People of all Ranks, who were highly pleased with the present Spirit for Military Art.

The Reverend Mr. Camm, President of the College at Williamsburg, has received Letters appointing him the Lord Bishop of London's Commissary for Virginia.

I See in Index Vol, 3 & this under Militia

By a Store Ship arrived at Halifax, and Capt. Callahan arrived here from London, we have public Papers to the 25th of July, from which we have extracted the following Articles of Intelligence, viz.

"THAT Orders have been given from the Admiralty-Office, for opening houſes of rendezvous at Newcaſtle, Leith and Glaſgow, for the purpoſe of enliſting Seamen in his Majeſty's ſervice,—That the ſhips now in repair in Portſmouth yard are the Courageux, 74, the Preſton 50, Vallant, 74, and the Britannia of 100 guns; and the Princeſs Royal of 90, the Lion of 64, and the Berwick of 70.

That, the ſquadron of men of war lately ſailed for Newfoundland, under the command of Commodore Shuldham, conſiſts of thirteen ſail, including ſloops.

That, they write from Plymouth, that freſh orders were received at the Dock-yard laſt Saturday night, and that ſeveral additional hands are ordered to be employed in the yard. And from Portſmouth we hear, that orders were received there on Monday laſt, for fitting for ſea ſeveral ſhips of the line as faſt as poſſible.

That, Preparations are making at Woolwich for a review of the Royal Regiment of Artillery on Blackheath, by his Majeſty, but the day is not yet fixed.

That, they write from the Hague, that a loan of 2,000,000 Ducats had juſt been negociated there for the uſe of the King of Pruſſia.

The Queen of Denmark, in her letter to the King, expreſſes a ſtrong deſire to return to England, and enforces her entreaties with ſuch ſolid reaſons that it is the general opinion of thoſe acquainted with the Court, that his Majeſty will conſent to her requeſt. Our Correſpondent thinks, that her deſire to return hither is a freſh proof of her innocence; for was ſhe guilty of the crimes laid to her charge, England would be one of the laſt places ſhe would wiſh to ſee.

That, an advice boat from the Manillas is arrived at Ferrol, with an account that Port Ematruel has been almoſt totally deſtroyed by a violent earthquake which being ſucceeded by a violent tornado and inundation of the ſea, all the fortifications were carried away, and the habour deſtroyed, at the mouth of which 20 ſhips, French & Spaniſh, with great part of their crews was loſt.

That, the Ohio petition being now diſpoſed of, the Petition of 120 Gentlemen for lands, in the neighbourhood of the Miſſiſippi, which was lately preſented to the Privy-Council, is expected ſpeedily to be heard, as well as the Petition for erecting a civil Government in that part of the Britiſh Territories.

That, A privy Council was held at the Cockpit, when the petition of the Honorable Thomas Walpole, Samuel Wharton, Eſquires, and others, for a grant of a tract of country for a new colony on the Ohio, in North-America, was again taken into conſideration and finally reported upon, in favour of the petitioners.

That, reports have been mentioned in the news papers relative to an intention of reſigning in Lord Hillſborough, which are thought to have ſome foundation in reality. This Nobleman, as Secretary of ſtate for America, has long made the Britiſh dominions beyond the Atlantic his particular ſtudy, and laid it down as a fixed principle, that every ſtep which has a tendency to promote new colonization has a tendency to weaken the ſupremacy of the mother country: On this account he has lately oppoſed all applications for freſh governments very ſtrenuouſly, and as the Ohio petition has juſt been carried againſt his opinion, we hear he is determined to have no farther concern in the Miniſtry.

That, a report is circulated, that Gen. Paoli thinks of taking a colony of Corſicans to America, and that the borders of the Miſſiſippi will be the ſeat of the ſettlement.

That, Dr. Solander will accompany Mr. Banks on his voyage to Ireland, and on his return from thence will ſail for the South-Seas.

That, General Conway will be appointed Commander in Chief of his Majeſty's forces in North-America, in the room of Gen. Gage, who is to return to England.

That, Letters from Paris ſay, that 15,000 muſquets, of a new invention, are finiſhed at Vicennes; they fire 15 times in one minute, carry 900 paces, & weigh 9 pounds.

That, they write from Berlin, that his Pruſſian Majeſty has juſt agreed to a treaty of defenſive alliance with the Empreſs of Ruſſia, by which he engages to furniſh her Imperial Majeſty with a ſtipulated Number of Troops againſt her Enemies.

That, a Traveller, lately arrived from Poland, gives this account of that unhappy country: "The firſt five miles from Warſaw the country is cultivated, and now containing no more than three villiages, uninhabited; all the reſt burnt, and the people gone! From Sirae to Silcſia is about 40 miles, one continued ſcene of ruin. In a journey of 200 miles, thro' a country formerly well cultivated and peopled, there are not now to be found above 5000 ſouls. This fine country is reduced to this miſerable and ſhocking ſtate, wholly by the furious zeal of ſome Popiſh Biſhops, who would never be ſatisfied with the total deſtruction of the Proteſtants and Greeks."

From the late rejection of the Diſſenter's Bill, the Biſhops ſeem to have little to fear from malecontents, either in the Church or out of it; while the epiſcopal College ſtick together, they are too conſequential to Government to be diſobliged by conſenting to any innovation, however juſt or reaſonable. [It may ſeem to Diſſenters.]

We hear the epiſcopal College are determined for the future, like the College in Warwick-lane, to ſhew no favour to Licentiates.

Alexander Macpherſon, late a Journeyman Staymaker at Bath, had laſt Week a fortune of 50,000l. ſterling come to him by the death of a near relation, who died inteſtate ſome time ſince in India.

They write from the North, that the Ague and Fever, with a ſwimming in the Head, rages to a great Degree about Edinburgh and the adjacent Towns, and Parts of Ireland, many People have been taken off by the ſecond or third Fit.

The Bank lent one Day to a celebrated Scotch Bank who lately failed 150,000l. By this ſeaſonable Relief, that Bank will not only recover its credit, but many other Houſes in Town, who were obliged to ſtop for ſome time, will be reſtored to their former ſituation.

LONDON, May 20

SO extremely fond is that weak and vain Miniſter, (as he calls himſelf) of ſeeing his dearly beloved name in the Public Prints, that it is ſaid a ſtanding order is left with the Publiſher of one of the News Papers, weekly to inſert as follows: "Laſt Tueſday there was a numerous and grand Levee at the Right Hon. THE EARL OF HILLSBOROUGH's Secretary of State for the American Department, at which many of the Colony Agents, Governors, Merchants, &c. attended." And by the ſame channel of intelligence the Public are now informed, that "the American Miniſter intends ſoon to make a Motion upon the preſent critical ſtate of affairs in North-America!" That our affairs, in that part of the world, are in a very critical ſtate is a fact by no means to be diſputed; but whether any good is likely to ariſe from his Lordſhip's bilious motions is ſomewhat doubtful, unleſs his Adviſers ſhould perſuade him firſt to take a large doſe of hypocacuan for his ſtomach. If not, the whole inward man muſt be in a very foul and flatulent ſtate, which generally occaſions a wretched confuſed Head, ſometimes Vertigo, and always Indigeſtion—very bad qualities indeed for a Miniſter.

So far, however, are the Colony Agents from attending his Lordſhip's grand Ideal Levees, that, it is ſaid, they are all ſo diſguſted with his vain, ſupercilious, haughty and overbearing ignorance, that ſcarce any of them ever appear at POMPOSITY HALL.

LONDON, May 25.

A Correſpondent near St. James's obſerves, that there is not perhaps to be given a more certain proof of that abſolute Caledonian influence ſtill exiſting beyond the viſible Miniſterial Cabinet, than the continuance of the Earl of Hillſborough in a publick Office! abhorred as he perfectly is by every body, except a few Sycophants and Seekers, that have any thing to do with him;—vain, paſſionate, and ſupercilious;—without capacity or abilities for any thing more than a mere oſtentatious appearance of doing buſineſs; without property or parliamentary intereſt in this kingdom;—proud, inſolent, and overbearing;—as a man deſpiſed, perhaps more than any of his rank in the three kingdoms; and (by obſtinacy and want of judgment) having done more hurt to the real dignity of Government than his paltry head's worth. He is perfectly hated by almoſt every other branch of Adminiſtration into the bargain: yet, with all theſe amiable and right honourable qualities, he is ſtill continued in Office! and why?—manifeſtly becauſe Lord Bute finds him the moſt abject and mean; the moſt pitiful, fawning, and ready, of all the ſpaniels in his lick ſpittle pack; more ſo, if poſſible, than even the little—little—Barrington itſelf.

LONDON, May 30.

The following little Anecdote, among a Multitude of others, may ſhew how extenſive Mr. Thomas Bradſhaw's Favours were diſtributed among his Relations and Connections, when he had the Honour of holding the Treaſury, under his Friend the Duke of Grafton.

The Ladies of Mr. Thomas Bradſhaw and Mr. Chamire (our preſent Secretary at War) are, it ſeems, Siſters, which form ſome Connection over and above the likeneſs and Similitude of Mind and Action in the two Gentlemen. Mr. Chamire has a Brother that is Sheriff of the Province of Maryland in America; and upon forming the New Board of Commiſſioners (and other Arrangements in conſequence thereof) at Boſton, Bradſhaw gets the Brother of this Chamire appointed Comptroller, or Surveyor (I can't poſitively ſay which) of the Cuſtoms at Boſton, a Place worth near 400l. a Year; the Brother, however, not chooſing to go to his new Appointment, when he had ſuch great Friends at the Treaſury, obtained Permiſſion to hold the Office by Deputy, which he did for three Years, and then, through Mr. Bradſhaw's Intereſt, got his Nephew (an ignorant raw Country Lad of Maryland) appointed in his Stead; reſerving to himſelf, as 'tis ſaid, the greater Part of the Profits of the Office, which is ſo held to this Day, when many brave Officers of both Army and Navy, who ſerved and fought through the whole of laſt War, are ſtarving upon a pitiful Stipend, ſcarce equal to a tenth Part of the Income of an Office thus held by a Maryland Plow-Boy, who has the good Fortune to be Nephew to the Chamires.—O! George the Second! how I revere the Remembrance of thee, who had the Feelings of a Man. At preſent, happieſt is he that has any, the moſt diſtant Connection with the Great Bradſhaw, now Lord of the Admiralty! If it ſhould be but fifth or ſixth Couſin, and a Midſhipman only, he'll ſoon get a Ship, in Preference to

An Half pay Maſter and Commander.

INTELLIGENCE EXTRAORDINARY.

THE Politicians about town are at a loſs to conjecture, what Prince Prettyman, the young Miniſter, will do now he has loſt his nurſe; for, to be weaned already, certainly would not do, as nurſe Whately having been little better than a dry nurſe, left him in but a poor weakly ricketty ſtate.

Some think that Thurlow might fill the place, ſo as juſt about make up the whiſh I. s, while others are of opinion, that his friend Wedderburne may get him ſome honeſt low-prized Scotchman, that with a little new milk and oatmeal would anſwer every purpoſe, and be at no great expence to the Secretary of State.

Advice is received, that the ſhip Luttrell has broke looſe from her Anchor of Preferment, in a violent ſtorm of Reſentment, and is driven from the Gold Coaſt of Adminiſtration, into the tempeſtuous Ocean of Faction, where ſhe was in great danger, not many years ago, of being caſt away in a hurricane.

LONDON, June 4.

Mr. Richard Le Bunt ſupported the Motion in the Iriſh Parliament to addreſs the Lord Lieutenant, to the advantage ſaid to be derived from the Octennial Bill, the Bankrupt Act, the Act for taxing Abſentees, &c. he very juſtly oppoſed a hated Proteſt, and ſhameful Proſtitution; in addition to the Penſion Liſt in violation to the Royal Promiſe, an encreaſe of Bribery to procure a corrupt majority, a diſcarding from his place a late Officer of the Houſe (Mr. Ponſonby) for fulfilling his duty to his Conſtituents and the duties of his Office; a needleſs increaſe of uſeleſs and burdenſome places, merely to ſatisfy the gaping mouths of rapacious Sycophants; a conſtituting, at one ſtroke, nine Members of the Houſe new Commiſſioners of new erected Boards, and filling up the tenth Vacancy with the hated name that could be choſen, that of the Tyrant and Oppreſſor of our fellow Subjects in America (Sir Francis Bernard.) For theſe and many other reaſons, he could not give his ſilent negative, but muſt give his open and loud oppoſition.

Mr. Ogle, with great humour ſaid, as he had ever oppoſed the Lord Lieutenant, and believed he ever ſhould continue to do ſo, therefore Gentlemen would not think he defended any meaſure but from conviction: therefore he muſt diſagree with a Gentleman behind him (Mr. Richard Le Hunt) who had found fault with the appointing Sir Francis Bernard to a ſeat at an Iriſh Board. This he thought a very juſt and prudent meaſure; for as we ſend many convicts to America which the Government there take proper care to provide for, it was nothing but juſt that we ſhould make ſome proviſion for a more atrocious man than any we ever tranſported, and one whom America had vomitted forth. Nay, if the Miniſtry in England did not provide for thoſe who had done their work, what would become of ſome Lord Lieutenants.

LONDON, June 6.

The truth of the following anecdote, relative to the famous TOMMY BRADSHAW, the new Lord of the Lord knows what, may be depended on:

This worthy Wight, formed by nature for carrying parcels, but which occupation he got rid of by a lucky dexterity, had during his connections with the treaſury, a ſiſter who kept a millener's ſhop in the city, and who from ſome ſuppoſed influence with her worthy brother, was much applied to for the procurement of employments and places under the government. Accordingly TOMMY and DOLLY laid their heads together, and agreed that DOLLY ſhould demand depoſits from her ſeveral cuſtomers, proportionate to the offices her excellent influence was to obtain for them. In this way the good lady amaſſed a very conſiderable ſum, which having ſhared with her honeſt TOMMY, ſhe found it prudent to decamp, and to leave her ſimple clients to the comforts of their own credulity. TOMMY, with the moſt amiable paleneſs of ſurpriſe, affected to know nothing of the matter, was vaſtly ſorry, aye, that he was, and the like; but this was all his humble petitioners could obtain from that time to this for their money. 'Tis right the public ſhould behold every bright example of ſuch glacious virtue.

LONDON.

July 20. Thursday his Majesty's Ship Bonetta arrived express from Admiral Montague, with the following disagreeable Intelligence: "That he had stationed the Gaspee schooner, Lieut. Dudingston, at Providence in Rhode Island to ——— protect the trade, and prevent the excess of smuggling that constantly prevails at that place; and which by the particular activity of the officer, was so effectually done, that the people were determined to remove the first time. Accordingly, at midnight, about two hundred armed men in eight boats boarded the schooner, killed the Lieutenant, took all the people out of the vessel, & then burnt her."

Some Earthquakes have been lately felt in France & Italy.

The late Baron Van Sweiten has left all his Manuscripts to the care of Dr. Stork, noted for his Writings on the Virtues of Hemlock.

It is said the Queen of Denmark will soon have leave to return home, on condition of her never appearing in her publick character.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 14.

Capt. Thompson, in 35 Days from the Isle of May, informs us, That on the Night of the 13th of April, a French Indiaman, from Bourdeaux, of about 400 Tons, outward bound, was cast away upon that Island; the Vessel entirely lost, but all the Cargo saved

PORTSMOUTH September 28.

Yesterday arrived in 21 Days from St. Vincent, the Brigantine Hannah, William Trefethen Master, who Informs that the Charribeans of said Island were Intrenching themselves against an expected attack of the English Forces, and that a few Days before he sailed a Country Armed Sloop of 8 Carriage Guns, was drove by the Current near that part of the Island those People Inhabit, and was Fired at by them, when the Captain of the armed Vessel returned the Salute from the Cannon, loaded with unwelcome Messengers, which occasioned great Distress among the Indians, by their Screeches and Noises heard on board said Vessel from the Shore:—— Thus begins the dreaded Consequences of subduing the Natives of that Island.

Yesterday arrived here the Capts. Gardner and Scott from London. In Capt. Scott came Passengers, Mr. Edward Church of this Town, Merchant, Henry Merchant, Esq; of Newport, and the Captains Cheevers, Lea and Shackford of Portsmouth.

Capt. Scott sail'd in Company with Capt. Chapman in a Sloop for New-London.

It is said that Dr. Robertson, Author of the History of Scotland, and of the Emperor of Charles V. is now employed in writing the History of the Discovery and Conquest of America. The Subject is highly interesting, and may be said to be in some measure new; nor will it fail, when treated by so masterly a Hand, to prove a valuable acquisition to the republic of letters; but the variety of occupations in which the Doctor is engaged, give reason to fear, that it will not, be delivered to the world for several years to come.

The Bookseller purchased of Dr. Robertson the Copy of his History of Scotland for 600 £. And his History of Charles V, was sold for no less than £. 4500 Sterling.—a Price it is tho't never before paid for any book in any country. The Bookseller made an immense Sum by the Sale of the Books.

At the public Commencement held at New-Haven on Wednesday the 9th Instant, Twenty-three young Gentlemen received the Degree of B. A. and Twenty-six the Degree of M. A. who had been educated at Yale-College: Besides several from other Colleges the honorary Degree of M. A.

On the 7th Instant, a Coasting Schooner loaded with Cord-Wood going from Lunenbourg to Halifax, Philip Herman, Master, was overset by a Flaw of Wind, on opening the North-West Arm; but by timely Assistance the People were saved, and afterwards the Schooner towed into Rous's Cove.

We hear from Broad-Bay at the Eastward, that one Day the Week before last, as a Man belonging to that Place was towing some Logs in the River, accidentally fell in; he endeavoured to save himself by taking hold of the Logs, but they rolled in such a Manner, that he could not get on them, and was drowned.——His Body was afterwards taken up and buried;—A young Woman of about 25 Years of Age, that attended the Funeral in returning Home, drop'd down dead, without any previous Complaint.

Last Week a Schooner from Blue-Island-Bay at the Eastward, Capt. Bates, bound to Salem, laden with green Cord-Wood in the Hold, and the Boards on the Deck, sprung a leak, and the Water coming in so fast that the People on board, Eleven in Number, Men, Women and Children, had but just Time to get into their Boat, with a few Biscuit in their Hands, when the Vessel sunk: They were in the Boat 30 Hours, when they were taken up by a Vessel and carried in to Casco-Bay, from whence they came up in a Vessel to this Town.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to grant unto Solomon Goodwin, a Prisoner under Sentence of Death, in the County of Cumberland, a further Reprieve until Thursday the 29th of October next.

DIED.] Mr. White, an aged Gentleman who lately came from the Eastward on a visit to his Children here:—Mr. Smith, a Seafaring Man.—Mrs. Wheeler, Wife of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, Blacksmith.—Mrs. —— Wheeler, Wife of Mr. Jonathan Wheeler, Bricklayer.—Miss Betsey Powell, second Daughter of Mr. William Powell, Merchant.—A Son of Mr. Samuel Allen Otis, Merchant, named Jonathan Mayhew.

A great Number of young Children have died within a Month past, chiefly of the Measles.

On Wednesday last came on for Trial at Worcester, the Action of Ebenezer Cutler, Plaintiff, against Robert Pierpoint and Caleb Davis, Defendants, for a Trespass committed in the Non-importation times. John Adams and Josiah Quincy, Esqrs; for the Defendants. The Cause was delivered to the Jury about two o'Clock on Thursday, who did not return with their Verdict till Friday about one o'Clock: They found the said Pierpont guilty, and gave Damages Fifteen Pounds Lawful Money, and the said Davis Not Guilty. Upon which Verdict Judgment being forthwith rendered (for the said Cutler said Damages and Costs against Pierpoint, and for the said Davis his Cost against Cutler) Cutler claimed an Appeal to the King in Council, his Right to which is referred to be hereafter argued and determin'd upon by the Court. The Province will wait a Determination on this Point, with the Solicitude a Matter of much Importance demands.

The Judges who alone sat in the above Cause, were Oliver, Hutchinson and Ropes. One McClanathan of Rutland, Brother-in-Law and Crony to Col. Murray of Rutland, was the Foreman of the late Jury who found that Pierpont guilty of a Trespass, who rescued his Life and Limbs to save Cutler's Neck. Tho' few good Men thank Pierpont for his friendly Interposition, yet none but worse Men think he deserved this Return.

A. Gardner Chandler, Sheriff of Worcester, was a Returner of Tales-men, and he returned two Tales-men, both of whom were of the Town of Hardwick, which hath many Years sent as the proper Representatives of it's Inhabitants, the RESCINDER Timothy Ruggles, Esq; One of these Tales-men alone sat on the Trial.

McClanathan and Daniel Wheeler of Hardwick, being both objected to by the Council for the Defendant, they solemnly and repeatedly declared they had formed no opinion relative to the Cause, and were under no Byass for or against either Party; But when the World shall be favoured with a Detail of their extraordinary Management, a right Opinion may be formed of their Truth, their Conscience and their Honor. Mr. Jeduthen Baldwin was taken off the Jury, because he owned that he told Cutler he would never get a Jury to give him any Damages; tho' at the same Time he said he had formed no Opinion of the Merits of the Cause.

It may be remembered that the public Prints in July last, informed us of a certain great Man from Rutland, after drinking Lord Hillsborough, North, Bute, and the Baronet of Nettleham, proposed as a Toast—"Confusion to S. Adams and Party." "What Return can a Man expect from a Country, (say the same Prints) who proposes to toast the Confusion of its most jealous, disinterested and inflexible Friends and Patriots?" And what may we add must be the Intimates and Connexions—the base Tool of such a Creature?

We hear that a certain C——— J———, is a late famous Cause, with his characteristic Eye ball Devotion, publickly affirmed that "The Non-importation Agreement was against the Laws of GOD and Man."

The Friends of Liberty are about raising a Monument to perpetuate the eternal Remembrance of those who ought never to be forgotten or forgiven. Hieroglyphical TALES-MEN will magically inspire the Beholders; and the CHIEF Device be "A PESTILENCE wasting at Noon-Day."

Sir Roger Rod-In-Pickle has been entreated to favour his Countrymen with a perspective View of the PIERS and Pont Neuf, over Davis's Streights, in the Western Hemisphere; together with the little Workers in the CUTLERY Mines, and grand Manufactory of base Ores, out of which THE CHIEF Hand fabricates Pigs of Lead, and counterfeit Coin, to impose upon the weak, and bribe the wicked.

Serjeant Pepper has been desired to publish his Reports, but declines for the present. However, Subscribers are entering their Names at the Sign of the Wry-Neck, in Ironmongers-Row, directly opposite THE BEGGARS on Horse-Back riding full Speed.

Bunyan's Exhortation to THE MEAGRE SHERIFF of CHANDLER'S Row, and give him solemn Warning, that he forthwith make Return of his Doings to the GRAND ASSIZE of the other World, that he may be judged of, and sentenced according to his Deeds, done (UNDER SACRED OATH) in the Body.
